THURSDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 1.

EXECUTION OF PRANZINI.—As stated in yesterday's GAZETTE, Pranzini, the murderer of Mme. Regnault, her maid and her maid's child, was guillotined, at five o'clock yesterday morning, in Paris. Pranzini was awakened out of a sound sleep at 4:45 o'clock by the jailers. Father Beaumesque, chaplain of La Roquette, entered the prisoner's cell and exhorted him to be courageous. Pranzini replied that he had no fear, but regretted that the only favor he had asked, that of permission to see his mother, had been refused. He reiterated his profession of innocence, and refused to make confession to the priest, saying: "Father, you do your duty, I will do mine." While being dressed for the block Pranzini declared he was glad his life was to be taken, as he preferred death to penal servitude for life. He reproached Chief of Police Taylor for having called, as Pranzini alleged, false witnesses against him during his trial. When he had been conducted to the scaffold, he appeared to be quite calm, and displayed considerable assurance. He kissed the crucifix presented to him by the priest, but he refused to kiss the priest when the latter proffered the farewell embrace. Pranzini was at this moment skillfully grasped and suddenly thrown upon the guillotine. His great knife fell and the murderer's head was severed from his body. The head was at once placed in a wagon and carried at a gallop to the Ivory Cemetery, where it was buried after the regular funeral ceremony had been performed over it. The Faculty of Medicine claimed the body and it was surrendered to them.

NEEDLE FOUND IN HIS SHOULDER.—Patrick Nugent is one of the best-known men in Newburgh, N. Y. He runs the Gold Mine saloon there which is noted for its costly statuary, carved woodwork, and other fine fittings. Before starting on the road to prosperity Nugent ran a boat called Kathleen Mavroune on the Erie canal. This was nearly a score of years ago. He was not married then, as he did not think a canal boat the proper place for a wife, and consequently, when his trousers needed mending he pined the needle himself. While so engaged one day his needle mysteriously disappeared. On Saturday last Dr. Ely was called in to quiet a pain in Nugent's shoulder. The sufferer imagined it was the rheumatism, but when the shoulder was cut open came the long lost needle. It will be preserved as a memento of Nugent's canal days.

A SPECIMEN OF BLIND OBEDIENCE.—Walking Delegate Farrell last Wednesday ordered the thirty carpenters in the employ of Chrystal Trauls & Co. in New York, to strike. The delegate alleged that the firm was paying men less than the union rate of $3.50 per day. The firm says it pays according to the value of the workmen. Wages ranged from $2.75 to $3 per day. The men struck. The delegate left and has not been seen since. The firm were willing Saturday to grant the average of wages, but the delegate could not be found to order the men back to work. The penalty for so going back without an order from the delegate is fixed at $20 each. The men wish to return to work.

Above all other earthly ills,
I hate the big old-fashioned pills;
Reckless of the downward wound,
And often passing up and down,
Their good effects are they brought,
Their good effects are they brought,
Now, Dr. Pierce prepares a pill
That just exactly fits the bill—
A Pellet, rather, than a pill—
A Pleasant Purgative, and small;
Just try them as you feel their need,
You'll find that I speak truth, indeed.
